

New single “Alien” by Alix of Tomorrow lands with a bang — electronic, futuristic, and unapologetically human

Brussels, September 26, 2025 — Emerging pop artist Alix of Tomorrow releases her new single “Alien”, a futuristic blast of electro exploring themes of difference, solitude, and the search for belonging — available now on all major streaming platforms.

With “Alien”, Alix of Tomorrow delivers her third and most accomplished single. Driven by curious-sounding synthesizers and an electrifying electro rhythm, “Alien” stands out with its powerful chorus and razor-sharp production. Alix uses space imagery as a metaphor for self-exploration, blending futuristic aesthetics with sincere vulnerability.

"I've always felt like an outsider in this world. While we often consider difference to be a strength, Alien reveals its hidden face — the loneliness, the doubts, the difficulty to find one's place", Alix explains.

Following “Butterfly” and “Noise”, “Alien” marks a milestone in the artist’s sonic journey — one that boldly affirms her unique musical signature mixing power vocals, electro rhythms and sensitive writing. More releases are expected in the coming months.

Alix of Tomorrow (AOT) is a sensitive electro-pop artist based in Brussels, Belgium. A singer-songwriter and classically trained musician, she uses her powerful vocals to deliver introspective and vulnerable lyrics that explore universal themes such as breakup, loneliness, and digital fatigue. Her productions burst with high-energy, shimmering synths, edgy beats ranging from electro to house, and curious genre-bending sounds.

Early 2025, she released her debut single "Butterfly" which explores her first breakup, before unveiling "Noise" in April 2025, an emotional outcry on the overwhelming flood of information and the relentless rhythm of modern cities. “Alien” is her third single.
